KARIKATURA I METEOROLOGIJA

"Smijeh je najjeftiniji lijek", napisao je davno lord Byron. Budući da karikatura često izmami osmijeh, moglo bi se reći da i ona liječi. Meteorologija pak ne liječi, ali može pomoći u liječenju i prevenciji nekih zdravstvenih stanja na koja djeluju vremenske promjene. Uostalom, povezanost tih promjena na zdravlje i raspoloženje ljudi odavno je dokazana, i gotovo se svakodnevno dodatno proučava u biometeorologiji - posebnom dijelu meteorologije, u kojoj se ona povezuje s medicinom. A postoji li povezanost meteorologije i karikature?

Naravno! I to višestruka. Ne samo da meteorologije često ima u karikaturi, nego ponekad čak i svojevrsne karikature ima u meteorologiji, osobito vremenskoj prognozi... I u pozitivnom i u negativnom smislu. Suše, poplave, vrućine, sparine, hladnoće, nevremena i drugi meteorološki "motivi" odavno su inspiracija mnogobrojnim karikaturistima diljem svijeta.

Odavno je znana i povezanost karikature i Hrvatske radiotelevizije (HRT). Upravo je tema ovogodišnje Međunarodne izložbe karikatura - Zagreb 2018 (MIK) podsjetnik na stara vremena HRT-a, te poticaj za svaki dan malo smijeha i vedrine, bez obzira na pokrivenost neba oblacima, jugo, buru, biometeorološke (ne)prilike, kojekakve meteorološke ekstreme, globalno zatopljenje i klimatske varijacije i promjene... Još potkraj 60-tih i početkom 70-tih godina prošloga stoljeća, popularnost vremenske prognoze na Televiziji Zagreb povećavale su karikature Dinka Žibrata, hrvatskog karikaturiste, novinara, dizajnera i ilustratora, koji je, između ostalog, osmislio i svakodnevno crtao lik "čovjeka sa psom", kao duhovitu najavu za vremensku prognozu. Danas podizanje popularnosti emisija s vremenskom prognozom gotovo i nije potrebno, budući da su one već desetljećima u mnogim zemljama među najgledanijim i najslušanijim dijelovima programa, i televizijskog i radijskog, a i rado čitane na teletekstu, i praćene putem aplikacija za pametne mobilne telefone, kao što je primjerice u Hrvatskoj - HRT METEO aplikacija. Dapače, čini se da je sada u Hrvatskoj i okolicu, vjerojatno i još ponegdje, potrebljana popularizacija karikature - ne zato što je ljudi ne vole gledati i čitati, ili zato što je nema tko nacrtati - uostalom, posljednjih sam mjeseci gotovo svakodnevno primaо mnogobrojne karikature - nego zato što ih nema odviše u medijskom prostoru ovog dijela svijeta. Nekada su karikature bile nezaobilazno novinsko štivo, a danas su čak i internetski portalni koji redovito objavljaju karikature - relativno rijetki u Hrvatskoj. Veseli me da je posljednjih mjeseci HRT ponovno postao svakodnevni promotor ove vrste umjetnosti, znane još u doba starog Egipta i Grčke. A i što je ovogodišnja tema MIK-a: "Meteorologija: vrijeme, klima, vremenska prognoza i sl." potaknula mnogobrojne autore s gotovo svih kontinenata da pošalju svoje uratke u Zagreb. Većina djela izmamit će osmijeh, neka vjerojatno samo onaj "kiseli", a neke će karikature vjerojatno potaknuti i na razmišljanje o svijetu oko nas, vremenu, klimi, a i što čovjeku radi vrijeme - i čovjek vremenu...

Uz što manje karikature u meteorologiji, osobito u vremenskoj prognozi, a više meteorologije u karikaturi, želim vam ugodno i nasmijano gledanje ovih karikatura, od žirija izabranih od ukupno prijavljenih 788, od 357 autora iz rekordnog broja zemalja za MIK - čak 62. E pa, neka razvedravanje počne! Ovaj put ne mislim u meteorološkom smislu.

Zoran Vakula, meteorolog

CARTOONS AND METEOROLOGY

"Laughter is the cheapest medicine", wrote Lord Byron a long time ago. Since cartoons often bring smile to your face, one might say that it also cures. Meteorology, though, does not cure but could help in the healing and prevention of some health conditions caused by weather changes. After all, connection of these changes to the health and mood of humans has long been proven, and is almost daily additionally explored in biometeorology - a special part of meteorology in which it is linked to medicine. And is there a connection between meteorology and cartoons?

Of course! And it's multiple. Not only do we often find meteorology in a cartoon, but sometimes we even find a kind of cartoons in meteorology, especially in weather forecasts. In a positive and a negative sense. Droughts, floods, heats, swelters, coldness, severe weather and other meteorological "motives" have long inspired many cartoonists around the world.

The link between the cartoon and Croatian Radio and Television (HRT) has long been known. The theme of this year's International Cartoon Exhibition - Zagreb 2018 (ICE) is a reminder of the old times of HRT, as well as a stimulus for every day laughter and gaiety, regardless of the cloud cover, scirocco or bora winds, the biometeorological (bad) conditions, various meteorological extremes, global warming and climate variations and changes... Towards the end of the '60s and early '70s of the past century, the popularity of weather forecasts on Television Zagreb was increased by the cartoons of Dinko Žibrat, a Croatian cartoonist, journalist, designer and illustrator. Among other things, he designed the "man with a dog" on a daily basis as a humorous announcement for the weather forecast. Today, raising the popularity of weather forecasts is virtually unnecessary, since for decades, in many countries, forecasts have been among the most watched and most listened parts of the program, both television and radio, moreover, weather forecasts are popular on the teletext, and also on smartphone applications, such as the HRT METEO application in Croatia.

Indeed, it seems that now in Croatia and its surroundings, probably even beyond, there is a need for the popularization of the cartoons - not because people do not like to look at them and read them, or because there's no one to draw them – on the contrary, in the last few months I myself received many cartoons almost every day - but it's simply because cartoons almost do not exist in the media space in this part of the world.

In the past the cartoons were an inevitable newspaper contents, whereas today, even internet portals that regularly publish cartoons are relatively rare in Croatia.

I am thrilled that, in recent months, HRT has once again become the daily promoter of this kind of art, known in ancient Egypt and Greece. And what also rejoices me is that this year's ICE theme: "Meteorology: weather, climate, weather forecast, etc." has encouraged many authors from almost all continents to send their cartoons to Zagreb. Most of the illustrations will stir up a smile, some of them probably just the "sour face", and some cartoons will probably stimulate even thinking about the world around us, weather and climate, and also what weather is doing to a man - and what a man is doing to weather...

With fewer cartoons in meteorology, especially in weather forecasts, and more meteorology in cartoons, I wish you a pleasant and smiling looking at these cartoons, which were selected by the jury out of the total number of registered 788 works of 357 authors from 62 countries - a new record for ICE. Let us brighten your day! And this time I don't mean meteorologically.
